One of the many prerequisites for state licensing agencies and university programs is the Praxis tests. There are different Praxis tests available for various subjects in the field of education. These Praxis tests, which are administered by the Educational Testing Service (ETS), are designed to ensure that individuals have the adequate knowledge and competencies to become professional teachers. Praxis TestPraxis Study GuidePraxis FlashcardsThe General Science: Content Knowledge test evaluates candidates who are seeking entry-level teaching positions as a general science teacher in secondary school. The exam covers scientific concepts, data analysis, and problem-solving. Candidates who take the General Science: Content Knowledge exam typically have a bachelor's degree, with coursework in science and education. Candidates who are interested in taking the General Science: Content Knowledge exam can apply on the Educational Testing Service (ETS) website. There are also options to apply via phone, with a $35 fee, and by mail. After registration, candidates can schedule their test at a Prometric test facility or other qualifying locations. The General Science: Content Knowledge exam is $120. How long is the General Science: Content Knowledge (5435) exam? The exam is 2 hours and 30 minutes, with 135 selected-response questions. What is the passing score for the General Science: Content Knowledge (5435) exam?
